If you are still doing your ironing with an old-fashioned "sad-iron" (there was a reason for calling them that), it probably takes about eighteen hours of your time each month.

You can do the same amount of work with the aid of an electric iron in about eight hours, and the cost is only about 5c per hour! A full ten hours is saved each month on ironing alone, and the work . . . well, it's just worlds easier, you'll see!

The new electric irons are such a convenience! They're automatically controlled, which means that after the iron reaches a certain temperature, this "electric servant" cuts itself off in plenty of time to prevent scorching. It automatically clicks on again to maintain an unchanging temperature, just right for even the most

The new electric irons are worth investigating! Look them up . . . they'll make your work lots easier and pleasanter for you!
